

FIRM OVERVIEW

BECKER & FRONDORF provides professional consulting services to the design and construction industry. Our clients include institutional and corporate owners; government agencies; design professionals; building owners and tenants; and others involved in the construction and real estate development process.

We program our services to meet the unique needs and requirements of each client and project. Our assignments range from comprehensive management services throughout all project phases to specific tasks of short duration. Services include:

- Project Management
- Owner's Representation
- Conceptual Cost Estimating
- Value Engineering Analysis
- Total Cost Management
- Critical Path Method Scheduling
- Project Arbitration
- Expert Testimony

Our experience encompasses projects ranging in size from under $50,000 to over $200,000,000. Project types include educational buildings, museums, hotels, medical facilities, laboratories, offices, garages, historic restoration, and sitework at all phases from feasibility and master planning through design and construction.

The founding principals of the firm are William P. Becker (Yale, B.A.; University of Pennsylvania, M. Arch.) and John R. Frondorf (Dartmouth, B.A.; University of Pennsylvania, M. Arch.). Each has decades of professional experience in architecture, construction consulting, project management and real estate development. In June 2011, Becker & Frondorf announced the promotions of both Mr. Charles Moleski and Mr. Matthew Salerno to the position of principal. Together with our capable and experienced professional staff, we work diligently with the entire Project Team to enable our clients to achieve maximum value for each dollar spent.
